BOOK SERIES COMPLETED

'No other gods' final book in Ten Commandments Series

The publishing of 'No other gods' in November 2023 marked the completion of the book series about the Ten Commandments in the 21st century. A series I have been working on for nineteen years! It hasn't always been easy, I admit. Positive feedback, favorable reviews, and kind words have encouraged me over the years and definitely kept me going. Thank you all who cheered me on.

Ten Core Values

While working on the last book in this series, it dawned on me that within the ancient Ten Commandments lay hidden ten core values of a dedicated and fruitful Christian life. Core values we live by from day to day. This is really taking it a huge step up. It means we are going from not stealing to being generous, from not giving false testimony to speaking truth, and from not committing adultery to being faithful. This requires a renewal of our minds, something we definitely need in order to stay hopeful and positive in our world today.

'NO OTHER GODS' FINALIST IN CIPA AWARDS 2025

christianpublishers.net

In September 2024, I decided to enter 'No other gods' in the CIPA Awards 2025 contest. Christian Indie Publishing Association (CIPA) provides independently published authors, small publishers, and authors published by small presses with resources and tools to publish professionally and market effectively. In December 2024, I received news that 'No other gods' made it to the shortlist of finalists eligible for an award.

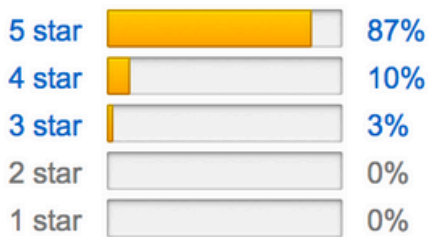

Winners will be announced during the awards ceremony at the Blue Lake Christian Writers Conference near Destin, Florida on March 12-15, 2025.

REVIEWS WANTED

Why reviews and ratings matter

In the digital world, almost everything works according to algorithms and ratings. The more people click on an item and the longer they stop to read or watch, the higher that item will climb in search machines such as Google. This is also true for books. So yes, I need reviews! Especially for this latest book 'No other gods'.

If you have purchased one (or more) of my books on Amazon, please do me a favor and write a review, even if it is only a few words, or give it a 1-5 star rating. Your input will surely help to get the word out there.

NEW BLOG ADDRESS

freshinsightsonancienttruths.blogspot.com

Apart from writing books, I picked up blogging as well. My blog journey started after my first book 'Sacred Sabbath' was published, hence the url I've used for the past 18 years: sacredsabbath.blogspot.com 😊 My blog posts are mostly short and encouraging devotional messages about faith. Based upon input from readers I also wrote quite a few blog series. After all those years, the blog address (url) 'sacredsabbath' didn't accurately describe the variety of topics anymore, so I started a new one. I hope you will decide to sign up for my new blog.

WORK IN PROGRESS

Following up on the book series

Halfway through the writing of the book series about the Ten Commandments in the 21st century, the idea came to me to write a sequel. Let's say an overall book that gives a more in-depth look about the point of view I have taken about living out the Ten Commandments in our daily lives. That point of view is: LOVE is the fulfillment of the Law. Every time we act in love, we fulfill the ancient commandments, we make them come true. I am almost finished with the manuscript in the Dutch language and I will continue with an English version.
